1. FAA's Summer Artists Residencies continue with Karen LeBlanc and Vanshika Khaitan until Aug 13

It's all weaving and painting at the Fredericton Arts Alliance's Art in the Box until August 13!

Karen LeBlanc is a master weaver, and, at 14, Vanshika Khaitan is the youngest artist ever to have a Fredericton Arts Alliance residency. Khaitan is an active student at Fredericton High School with a strong interest in art. She has won several art competitions and has sold work through Isaac's Way. She is hoping to work on a big canvas capturing emotions about Canadian 150 including landmarks, bright colour and a sense of celebration. LeBlanc has 40 years' experience as a fibre artist, and has exhibited locally, nationally and internationally. She plans on weaving samples of historical textiles and small tapestry images, and possibly working on a three-dimensional woven sculpture.

On August 14, weaver Kim Bent will return for a second residency, joined by clay artist Yolande Clark. Bent has been working on a design based on the Canada 150 tulip, which she began in an earlier residency in mid-July. Clark's interest in ceramics goes back to a first pottery class at age 3. She is now an established ceramist with work in galleries in New Brunswick, Ontario and Japan. She plans to work with the potter's wheel as well as making coil pots. She will have two wheels available so visitors can try their hand at making a clay vessel or sculpture using traditional or contemporary methods. Her residency will also reflect the history of pottery in Canada from First Nations ceramics onward.

Art in the Box will be open daily from 10am to 5pm, and artists may stay open on evenings when there are special events in Officers' Square.

5. Calli, Chez-nous, Home starting at Gallery 78 Aug 11

Calli, Chez-nous, Home is a collaborative project between visual artist Fabiola Martinez and Isabelle Lafargue, porcelain painter. The exhibition is a multi-dimensional and interactive body of work that explores the meaning of home for immigrants living in Canada.

Fabiola Martinez's work employs multi-cultural influences - combining a cochineal dye (Dactylopius coccus), a pigment produced by a female insect that is found on cacti in South America, along with a porcupine quill technique learned from the Mi'kmaq artist Tara Francis to explore and understand her past and current cultures. Using a technique learned in Limoges France, Isabelle Lafargue uses porcelain and painted architecture elements to share stories and memories and hopes for the future in Canada, her new home.

As part of this exhibition, a "Friendship Table" will be an interactive installation of a family dining experience, a familiar and natural place of sharing, where families and friends get to know one another best, brought together by food. Visitors will be encouraged to add their favourite dish recipe or a memory of getting to know new immigrant friends, writing their experiences on a small piece of paper with a circle shape to remind us that we are all connected.

Come to meet the artists on Friday, August 11 from 5 to 7pm during the opening of Calli, Chez-nous, Home a collaborative project between visual artist Fabiola Martinez and porcelain painter Isabelle Lafargue. The exhibition is a multi-dimensional and interactive body of work that explores the meaning of home for immigrants living in Canada.

The exhibition continues until September 3, 2017. Gallery 78 is located at 796 Queen Street (corner of Church and Queen). Open Tuesday to Friday 10am-5pm, Saturday 10am-3pm, Sunday 1-4pm or visit virtually at: www.gallery78.com. Back to top.

Union Duke is a Toronto folk quintet that's taking the world by storm - one captivating performance at a time. Last summer the Dukes entertained, amazed, enchanted and excited our audience. We had to have them back and we are thrilled that they are coming!
