1. Herbert the Cow Productions presents 'night Mother at Affirmation Lounge on December 13 at 7pm

The magnum opus of American playwright, Marsha Norman, this play won the Pulitzer Prize for Drama in 1983. Jessie Cates, an unemployed epileptic with a failed marriage, and a deeply troubled son, tells his mother, Thelma, that he plans to kill himself before the night is over. Thelma tries to convince her son life is worth living, but Jessie remains resolute. This reader's theatre presentation (with a few surprises along the way) will feature Herbert the Cow alumnus, Amy Bourne, joining Corenski Nowlan for this one night only performance.

The cost is $5 per ticket. Seating is limited so reserve your ticket by emailing corenski@gmail.com. We will also be accepting donations for the Canadian Mental Health Association. Due to the sensitive subject matter of the play, the show is 16+. Also, we wish to issue a content warning for anyone who suffers from depression, PTSD, or has in the past had suicidal thoughts.

The book contains nearly 200 large format black & white photographs of interiors and exteriors of buildings, along with wide streetscape and landscape views of the shared Canadian/American coast of Passamaquoddy Bay. FM Berlin, the recipients of the 2018 Music New Brunswick Rock Artist of The Year award, is a four-piece Alternative east coast rock band that sounds like The Police and The Strokes made a baby....in space. This is a bold claim that they own with sing-a-long swagger.
- December 29 at 11am: Tortue EP Release with Chillteens & Kral Majales. $8 at the door.
With strange time signatures, and slightly obscure rhythms and melodies, Tortue glues together puzzle pieces that were never meant to fit, but at the end the picture comes out unexpectedly pleasant. After a long hiatus from recording and performing, Tortue has put together a diversely dynamic, powerfully short, emotional rollercoaster of an EP.

13. odd Sundays presents the Poetry of Margaret MacQuarrie-McLeod at Corked Wine Bar, Dec 16 at 2pm

The main portion of the afternoon will be a retrospective on the poetry of Margaret MacQuarrie-McLeod, who recently died after a lengthy illness. Margaret's poetry will be read by members of the Wolf Tree Writers Group, of which Margaret was a founding member.

That will be followed by two open sets on a seasonal theme. We are thinking about more than just holidays (although that would be most welcome); we're considering how the deep darkness of winter affects and impacts us, the darkening days when ghost stories and wicked fairies do their worst, when the weird clamours for notice.

This will be a time for you to consider adding your name to these open mic lists, whether you're a regular open mic reader or have never yet stood and read for the group. Back to top.

31. NB Youth Orchestra Concert Weekend Billeting Host Opportunity for February 8 & 9

The internationally acclaimed New Brunswick Youth Orchestra returns to Fredericton from February 8 to 10. We traditionally recruit generous families, wherever we rehearse and perform across the province, to serve as billeting hosts for pairs of orchestra members. We are interested in identifying willing host families who can provide two nights of overnight accommodation to orchestra members, including breakfasts and transportation to/from our rehearsal venues in Fredericton during that February 8-10 rehearsal-concert weekend. Host families create a warm welcome for our members; and they enable our youth musicians to become better leaders and ambassadors.

Billeting Host families are provided complimentary pairs of tickets to the Sunday, February 10, 2pm concert at The Playhouse. This year's NBYO concert in Fredericton will include the performance of an original composition by long-time NB musician/bassoonist, music educator, conductor and composer, Sam Arnold. Sam's sound and visual creation is entitled—Wolastoq Fantasia. Sam is also the recipient of the 2019 Lieutenant Governor's NBYO Award for his life-long contribution to the development of youth orchestral music in our province.

You can find lots more information about NBYO and Sistema NB by visiting our websites. If you are interested in becoming a billeting host, contact Don Matheson at (506) 866-7920 or drmatheson@nbyo-ojnb.com. Back to top.

1. Scripts and Screens in the NB Film Co-Op Resource Centre on December 15 at 6pm

The Grey Rabbit Theatre Co. in association with the New Brunswick Film Co-op will host its first Script and Screen event. This quarterly event is designed to engage writers and discuss the creation of their scripts. Film and theatre writers are welcome.

Note: Must be NB Film Co-op members to participate in this Film Co-op activity. Those non-members interested in attending can email info@nbfilmcoop.com about joining.

Grey Rabbit Theatre Co. hopes to promote both film and theatre with this project. GRTC founder Laura-Beth Bird says that "many new scriptwriters are unsure of their work." She hopes that "this writing lab will help them discuss their ideas." Bird believes that discussing storylines and promoting collaboration and conversation will help the community grow. Both theatre and film experience the same creation problems. This lab series hopes to encourage productive discourse and ideas.

This event will take place in the NB Film Co-op resource centre, located in the basement of the Charlotte Streets Arts Centre. All participants are encouraged to bring any work in progress and scripts to share. Visit <https://www.facebook.com/events/458989247960591/> for more information. Back to top.
