1. Fredericton Arts Alliance Artists in Residence Series presents Vanshika Khaitan & Matt Watkins July 23-29

- Fredericton High School student Vanshika Khaitan will create a large oil/acrylic painting to capture the beauty and history of the river in hopes of bringing its history and origins to the public's mind. Visitors will also be able to add their fingerprints to the piece.
- Matt Watkins, who own Earthforge Jewellery and Symbiosis Fine Art, Inc., will work on a two by three foot painting, featuring the river, bridges, and Fredericton skyline. Visitors will get to ask questions about the painting and the practice.

Katherine Moller (Celtic fiddle) and Emilie Grace Lavoie (ceramic and fibre figures) will be on display until July 22. The Casemates are open daily from 10am-5pm Monday to Saturday, and 12pm-5pm on Sundays. All are welcome and there is no charge for admission. Donations are gratefully accepted. ## 2. Connexion ARC and the Downtown Art Walk July 19 from 5-8pm

We will be open in two locations for the Downtown Art Walk:

At the Garrison Night Market, Connexion ARC will be hosting Cat LeBlanc. Cat will perform her original music piece "Conversations We Never Had", an unfolding revelation of a spoken word. Cat is a sound creator who likes to experiment and explore music, voice and ambient sounds. Her work is informed by the loss of her only sister to brain cancer, which has influenced a body of music and sound creations. Cat has been exploring the themes of loss, the passage of time, memory, and the realization that certain conversations will never happen with loved ones once they are gone. Cat is based in Fredericton, New Brunswick.

Our offices, Rooms 129/130 of the Charlotte Street Arts Centre, will feature a display of ephemera from other Night Market participants and an ad hoc exhibition of work by members. Stop by to see what Connexion is all about or to renew your membership! Back to top.

Workshops | Classes | Art Camps

1. Write a Novel This Summer

This is a two day weekend workshop that will prepare you to write your first novel. Based on over a decade of workshops taught through the UNB College of Extended Learning, the Maritime Writers' Workshop and the Muse Online Writers' Conference, this workshop will provide you with a step-by-step process to conceive an idea for a novel, develop that idea into a full story plot and visualize your novel scene-by-scene.

No experience is necessary. Grammar will be neither discussed nor necessary. You don't even need an idea for a novel...just the desire to write one. Classes will be held late morning to early afternoon so as not to interfere with your summertime weekend. Weather permitting, parts of this workshop may be held outside.

Instructor: Biff Mitchell (www.biffmitchell.com)

Dates: Saturday, July 21 & Sunday, July 22 from 10am until 1pm

Place: Studio4Ward, 184 Queen Street (air conditioned)

Fee: $65

Class Limit: 10

2. Free Writing Workshop for Mothers & Other Caregivers at Beaverbrook Art Gallery July 25, 10am-3pm

Caregiving requires patience, discipline, flexibility, and imagination, all attributes of an artist. Caregiving can also make art-making and creativity almost impossible to pursue. In this free one-day workshop, mothers and other caregivers will gather to explore the isolation, frustration, intimacy, and joy associated with providing care to other human beings. We'll talk about emotional labour, tour the Beaverbrook Art Gallery's permanent collection exhibitions, and work individually and collaboratively on original poems and other writing. If you are a caregiver you are invited to register and attend with the person or people for whom you provide care.

This will be led by artist-in-residence Abby Paige, writer and theatre creator; you can read about her work at abbypaige.com. Space is limited, and pre-registration is required. To register, or for more information, please contact Abby Paige directly at emailabbypaige@gmail.com or by calling 292-5307. Please note that registration is not available through the Gallery for this workshop. The workshop will be held in English, but French and Spanish speakers can be accommodated. Children are welcomed; we will care for them as we create together. There is no charge to participate, but lunch is not provided. Back to top.

Our day together will include a tour of the Beaverbrook Art Gallery's permanent collection exhibitions, followed by fun acting, movement, and improvisation exercises designed to help us create gestures, images, and stories to be shared. We will explore how our bodies inhabit and move through space and what it means to see and be seen. Regardless of your level of ability or experience, you are invited to participate in this day of collaboration, creativity, and fun.

This will be led by artist-in-residence Abby Paige, writer and theatre creator; you can read about her work at abbypaige.com.
