1. News from The Fredericton Arts Alliance

Message from the President:
It is with deep regret that we have to tell you that we will be losing our coordinator, Amani Wassef, at the end of the month. For personal reasons she has decided to move to another position, but thankfully still with the Arts. Amani has accepted a new position with The Playhouse as the Education and Outreach Coordinator. As you well know she has been the most dynamic, dedicated and caring person to the Arts Alliance Inc. and has indeed become synonymous with the title F.A.A. Her move will be a great loss to us all at the FAA. However she has agreed to continue to send out the Arts News each week for which we are very glad. She goes with our best wishes for the future and many thanks for all the many, many tasks she has undertaken so cheerfully, and her wonderful efforts to keep us in, and on line.

-George Fry, FAA President.

October Masquerade Ball – On October 30, join the Fredericton Arts Alliance in a night of culture, dance, costume and fun. Put on your best costume and kick up your heals to the live music of Cesar Morales and Sabor Latino (you’ll remember them from the Dali Gala and the Harvest Jazz and Blues Festival.) Frivolities include a costume parade, with prizes for the best costume, adult face painting, the magical Chinese Lion Dance, and other cultural treats for the mind. We are seeking volunteers to help decorate the ballroom on the evening of the masquerade around 5 pm. If you are interested in helping out, please contact Amani at 443-9900.
The Masquerade will be held at the Delta Hotel, Saturday October 30th from 8:30 pm – midnight. Tickets are $25 each or 2 for $40, students $15 each or 2 for $25. Cash bar. Tickets available from Westminster Books, Mazucca’s, FAA board members, at the Boyce Farmer’s Market on Saturday, October 23, and at the door. Don’t miss this one-of-a-kind event. This is a fundraising event for the Fredericton Arts Alliance.

For information call 443-9900.

Memberships: Attached is the FAA membership form. Our fall membership drive is ongoing. Please help support the work of the Fredericton Arts Alliance and send in your form today.

2. FAL’s Arts Gala A Success

Fredericton Arts and Learning (FAL) raised over $20,000 for the Charlotte Street School project during the Arts Gala on September 24 held at The Playhouse. The Gala’s organizing committee members wish to thank the contributing artists and the musicians for their generosity. Over one hundred works of art and craft were sold at auction. Musicians Sally Dibblee, Peter Allen and Richard Hornsby donated their talents for the evening’s performances. Thanks also go to The Playhouse staff for their willing assistance, and the Beaverbrook Art Gallery for a donated art work and help with the exhibition.

The support from the artists and the community was overwhelming. This was a special event for a special cause in this crucial year to to establish a community-oriented arts centre in the historic Charlotte Street School. For more information on the Charlotte Street School project, visit FAL’s website: www.fal-inc.com.

3. UNB/STU Music On The Hill Series Noon Concert To Present Three Centuries of Clarinet (today)

UNB/STU’s Music On The Hill series presents "Three Centuries Of Clarinet" on Thursday, October 14, 2004, 12:30 pm at Memorial Hall, UNB. Explore the use of the clarinet in the last three centuries, from its infant days with Mozart to its use in jazz today. UNB Musicians Peter Allen and Richard Hornsby present this noon concert.

No admission fee. Everyone is welcome to come and bring a lunch.

5. The UNB ART CENTRE Presents Metal And Vinyl At Mem

Mark Friday, October 15 in your calendar for an unforgettable evening with Metal mavens Obsidian Reign and Progressive rock band On Vinyl. Showtime is 9:30 pm in the auditorium of Memorial Hall on the UNB campus.

First on the evening’s playbill is Fredericton band On Vinyl. Originally from Bathurst N.B., On Vinyl is Chris MacLean (vocals/guitar), Andrew Goyette (bass/vocals) and Zach Atkinson (drums). Opening for such Canadian bands as Matt Mayes and the trews, On Vinyl placed 2nd in the 2004 Campus Battle of the Bands and are releasing their first full-length CD this fall. Grounded in the sounds of progressive rock, On Vinyl's transcendent melodies and superb bass lines show off the band's talents in song writing and creative instrumentation.

Based in Fredericton, Obsidian Reign was formed in February 2003 and released their first CD Conviction in 2004. Members include Rob Adams (Guitar and Vocals), Mike Davidson (Guitar), Steve McDonald (Lead Vocals), Dan Rogers (Drums) and Paul Vidal (Bass). Obsidian Reign has been making a name for themselves playing around the province. Citing such musical influences as Slayer, Iron Maiden, Pantera, Rob Zombie and Metallica to name only a few, Obsidian Reign are at their best when they are at their loudest!

Both bands will be showcased on the soon-to-be-released Volume 2 of Freddy's Rock Pile, a compilation CD featuring tracks from local bands created to raise awareness about Fredericton's music scene and to raise funds for local school music programs.

This is an all ages’ show. ID required for cash bar. Tickets are $5.00 at the door. Memorial Hall is located at 9 Bailey Drive on the UNB Fredericton campus. For more information: (506) 453-4623.

10. Poets Across Canada Hit The Streets To Commit “Random Acts Of Poetry” During Celebration

Abebooks.com and the Victoria READ Society join forces with 27 acclaimed Canadian poets to bring poetry to Canadians everywhere. Random Acts of Poetry Week is coming to Atlantic Canada this October 25-31. Atlantic poets Hugh MacDonald, Kathy Mac, Lorri Neilsen Glenn, Marian Frances White and Mary Dalton will travel through their city, randomly reading poems to people in parks, bus stops, schools, cafes, shops, libraries, hair salons and other everyday places. Locally, watch for Fredericton poet, Kathy Mac, as she participates in “this opportunity to knock poetry out of the ivory tower. An opportunity to hear a real flesh-and-blood poet, an invitation for the everyday person on the street to slow down a little and enjoy a literary burst of energy for what it is - nourishment for the soul” (participant Carolyn Souaid of Montreal.)

Kathy Mac: Kathy Mac’s book Nail Builders Plan for Strength and Growth (Roseway 2002) was shortlisted for a Governor General’s Award, and won the Gerald Lampert Award for the best first book of poems published in Canada that year. A ronin Romanticist, Mac frequently strides about in a maritime fog, trying to keep a variable number of dogs in sight.

11. Open Heart to premiere on Oct. 24 on CBC Television

Open Heart, a made-for-television movie shot on location in Saint John, NB will make its broadcast premiere on CBC Television on Sunday, Oct. 24 at 8 pm (AST).

Laced with suspense, Open Heart, made in partnership with New Brunswick Film, is set in a fictional Maritime hospital and stars Megan Follows as pediatric nurse Sherry Cardinal. Shocked by the discovery of lethal abuses in her cardiac surgery unit, Sherry must find the courage to stand alone and blow the whistle on a hostile hospital administration and the surgeon determined to crush her. Inspired by real events in Canada and abroad, Open Heart explores the consequences of an under-funded health care system in a drama of heart-wrenching poignancy and moral choice. Also starring are Raoul Bhaneja, Vincent Walsh, Joseph Ziegler, Kim Roberts, Kate Lynch and Karl Pruner.

14. Events At The Beaverbrook Art Gallery

Emerging Artist Series: On October 3, the Beaverbrook Art Gallery, along with presenting sponsor Greenarm, introduced a five-year series entitled Studio Watch - Emerging Artist Series. This special exhibition introduces young up-and-coming artists to a wider audience. Through the vision of Earl Brewer and Bob Skillen, a yearly purchase award generously funded by Greenarm, will enable the Gallery to increase its holdings of emerging artists. The exhibition will be displayed in alternate years at the Beaverbrook Art Gallery and the New Brunswick Museum.

This series features artists in the early stages of their career who have been working full-time at making art for at least five years. The first artist features, Jonathan Johnson, from Hampton, New Brunswick, a recent graduate of the Nova Scotia College of Art and Design; has participated in eight exhibitions in the last four years. His work is in numerous collections including Aliant, Saint John, NB; Stewart McKelvey Stirling Scales, Saint John; and Beaumont Church Law Firm, Calgary, AB.

The exhibition, Studio Watch: Emerging Artist Series, opens to the public on Sunday, October 3 and will be displayed until January 3, 2005.

Britannica: British Paintings from the Permanent Collection

Reminiscent of a Victorian parlor, the exhibition, Britannica: British Paintings from the Permanent Collection features 31 paintings hung in a salon-style format. These works closely reflect the personal tastes of their collector, Lord Beaverbrook, who is said to have had (at the time he purchased these works), "[a] combined eye for beauty with a hard-nosed sense of value."

Mounted in conjunction with the exhibition, The Changing Land: British Landscape Paintings from the National Gallery of Canada, Britannica: British Paintings from the Permanent Collection, contains popular nineteenth-century images and subject matter such as history paintings, mythology, landscape and genre scenes. Entitled Britannica meaning “of things British”, reflects a style of art, that of realism, which, after the nineteenth century, fell out of favor in the academic world and has never fully recovered it stature.

Britannica: British Paintings from the Permanent Collection will be on exhibition at the Beaverbrook Art Gallery until January 3, 2005.

Glenn Priestley: Variations:

The Beaverbrook Art Gallery continues its commitment to the presentation of contemporary Canadian art with the exhibition, Glenn Priestley: Variations. This exhibition of works by popular New Brunswick artist, Glenn Priestly, opened to the public on September 19 and examines variations on the theme and conventions of figurative art in the tradition of high realism. The paintings and drawings depict figures, alone and in groups that span Priestley’s life from the suburbs of Toronto to the pastoral landscape of New Brunswick. His paintings and drawings reflect his attempts to find the familiar in strange and unfamiliar worlds and the individuals he has encountered there.

Reading OFF the Wall: Four prominent New Brunswick poets read at the Beaverbrook Art Gallery

In conjunction with the exhibition, Writing ON the Wall, four prominent New Brunswick poets, Ross Leckie, Anne Compton, Robert Gibbs, and Rose Desprès, inspired by artworks selected from the Beaverbrook Art Gallery’s permanent collection, will read their poems at the Gallery in an event called Reading OFF the Wall. The poems will be read in both French and English.

Reading OFF the Wall will take place on two nights: The first reading took place on Wednesday October 13 featuring Ross Leckie of Fredericton and Rose Desprès of Moncton.

On October 22 at 7pm, Anne Compton of Saint John, will recite her poem Victoria’s Recitative, after the Victoria Kynaston portrait done by Allen Ramsay in 1749. Dr. Compton teaches literature and creative writing at UNBSJ, is the winner of the 2003 Atlantic Poetry Prize, and has a new poetry collection scheduled for 2005.

Accompanied by Dr. Compton will be Frederictonian Robert Gibbs, whose poem Containment sans Confinement, was inspired by the still life Nature morte à la palette (1940) by Alfred Pellan. Director of Creative Writing at UNB in Fredericton and Editor of The Fiddlehead for over 30 years, Mr. Gibbs, the recipient of N.B.’s Alden Nowlan Award for Excellence in the Literary Arts, has recently published his collection of poetry, Driving to our Edge.

Writing ON the Wall, a unique exhibition concept curated by Joseph Sherman, opened at the Beaverbrook Art Gallery October 3 and closes January 3, 2005. This exhibition will be accompanied by four exhibition brochures.

Ex Libris is back for a fourth season! This year, the Beaverbrook Art Gallery’s Reading Group will be discussing novels, most of them fresh off the printing press. This is your chance to read and discuss six great books about art and to meet new people!! Ex Libris: The Gallery Reading Group is held the second Thursday of the month in October. and from January to April. The November group will be held on Wednesday November 10 due to Remembrance Day. All sessions are held at the Gallery’s Boardroom and commence at 7 pm. Everyone is invited to attend. While it is not mandatory to do the readings, it is encouraged and will certainly enhance the sessions. The books are available at the Gallery Shop.

Beaverbrook Art Gallery’s joins Travelmyles to tour Philadelphia and Boston: “Hello, Dalí!”

Have you ever dreamed of touring Boston and Philadelphia someday and visiting their art galleries? The Beaverbrook Art Gallery, in cooperation with Travelmyles, a local tour company, will make your dreams come true.

Ann Lowe, Chair of the rejuvenated Art Tour Committee for the Beaverbrook Art Gallery, designed the itinerary with Jim Myles, well-known in Fredericton as an experienced and informative tour-guide. In addition to the art gallery tours, arrangements can be made for visits to historic sites, botanic gardens, zoos, and many other attractions. Accommodation for this six day tour includes three nights at the Radisson Plaza Warwick Hotel in central Philadelphia; two nights at the Copley Square Hotel in central Boston; and one night at the Hampton Inn, Worcester, Massachusetts. Full American breakfasts included start each day in great style.

The deposit for this trip is due October 15.

Review

Chairmaker: Book by Scott Burke, Lyrics by W. Edgar Fisher, Music by Alastair Macdonald

The Playhouse, October 8

Theatre New Brunswick

by Russ Hunt

On the way home from attending TNB’s opening show this year, a remounting of Artistic Director Scott Burke’s Chairmaker, I thought, "If this is theatre, I'm not competent to review it."

That may well be the case. Perhaps I've missed something important. Maybe my constitutional predilection for regarding the word “heartwarming” in the advance publicity as a warning label has something to do with it. But I think it's important to say to the people who've read my reviews over the years that, if they thought this production was appalling, they're not alone. And if they loved it, that, well, there is another view. But . . . if you enjoyed it, please don't read the review. I have no interest in telling people who enjoyed something, that they really shouldn't have.

To read the rest of this review, go to Russ Hunt's Web site, at http://www.stu.ca/~hunt/reviews.htm
